HARDING MESSAGE IS HELD LARGELY REPLY TO CRITICS

CONGRESS NOT STIRRED TO ANY EXTENT BY EXECUTIVE WORD

JUST PAVING WAY

Fact Finding Commission in Coal Industry Only Immediate Move Probable

Washington.—President Harding's address to congress has failed to excite that august body. Such recommendations for new legislation as Mr. Harding made will not be considered at once, with the possible exception of the one creating a commission of inquiry into the coal business.

Congress likes to create commissions without power and will not hesitate to make a gesture of assistance to the executive by providing a fact finding commission.

Mr. Harding showed he didn't believe congress could do anything at this time to affect the coal or coal strikes and that he was simply paving the way for the future. With the tariff and the bonus on its hands and a deep-seated desire to adjourn congress and get into the electoral campaign, members are not bestirred over the president's address and the president had to answer critics.

Answer to Critics.

Many senators, in fact, urged the president to make the address so as to answer the many criticisms against the federal government. The measure at hand, H. R. 11, for capturing letters and telegrams have been pouring into the administration urging that something be done. To all this the federal government has said it is simply a convenient way for the president had to answer critics.

Government Powerless.

Curiously enough the message of President Harding in the matter of protecting aliens grows out of the fact that two Mexican citizens are said to have been killed at Hermin, Tex. The federal government of the United States publicly declares itself powerless to punish the crime. Supposing the facts were reversed and two American citizens were murdered in a fight in Mexico. Would the United States government listen sympathetically to the plea that the federal government of Mexico had no power to punish the offenders? That it was a matter for particular states? Mexico which has a constitution similar to that of the United States has made that plea to the American ears before in the case of the states and frequently to involve federal jurisdiction on one pretext or another.

Adviser Test Case.

There are many lawyers who say the United States government could make a test case of the Hermin disaster and on the ground that aliens

Radical Offices Raided Following Fast Train Wreck

YANK WILL ATTEMPT TO COAX RAIN DOWN ON PARCHED ITALY

(By Associated Press.)

London.—An American "rain-maker," Charles M. Hatfield, who claims to have brought relief for drought sufferers in the United States and Canada, has arrived at Naples, having been invited by the Italian government to try to bring rain to that vicinity, parched by five months' drought, says a Central News dispatch from Naples Monday.

If he is successful at Naples, the government will engage him to repeat the process in other districts suffering from lack of rain. He was quoted Monday as saying he was going to explain his secret process to Pope Pius and, if the pontiff agreed, he would try to induce rain to fall on the Vatican gardens, which for some time have been withered by the drought.

Two Strongholds Fall to Free Staters; Republicans Retreating.

(By Associated Press.) Dublin.—Nationalist forces have captured Bandon and Dunmanway, two of the few remaining rebel strongholds in south Ireland, and the irregulars are hastily retreating. Bandon is 15 miles southwest of Cork and Dunmanway is the same distance west of Bandon. The advice, said to have been given by Eamon De Valera, the Irish leader, that they were to capture the towns when they thought it seems to have had its effect, as many already have resumed civil life.

TWO IN HOSPITAL, ONE JAILED AFTER WILD AUTO RIDE

(By Associated Press.) Racine.—Two men are in St. Mary's hospital, one close to death, while the third is in the county jail following a wild ride in an automobile Sunday night.

Claude Taylor, 362 Tenth street, Milwaukee, is in a serious condition in the hospital, the police say. The third man, a driver of the machine, is in jail for at least 60 days, having been sentenced by Judge Burgess in a drunken case. Monday he fails to pay the fine of $100 and costs, he will be obliged to remain in jail an additional 60 days.

Varley Freed as Murder Suspect

Completely exonerated of having had any connection with the $1,200 hold-up at Eau Claire, July 25, 1921, and the subsequent murder of Chief of Police Elmer Sunday, James R. Varley returned to his home in Janesville Monday. By means of affidavits from friends and relatives here Varley was able to establish a complete alibi.

A diary kept by his sister-in-law, Miss Ruth Scarlett, was largely instrumental in clearing him. The diary showed he returned to Janesville, July 8, 1921, from Eau Claire, where he had been working and remained here continuously until August 2, 1921, when he went to Flint, Mich., to work. Varley was formally released from the Eau Claire jail at 10:30 Sunday morning. "I was treated more as a guest than a murder suspect by the sheriff and police at Eau Claire," said Varley, concluding his treatment there to that received at the police station here where he says he was asked to hand over money enough to pay for his breakfast, Thursday morning. "Up there it was considered the third degree at Eau Claire by Detective Cunningham, Chicago, and was taken to the scene of the robbery and murder but Many I. W. W. men among railroad strikers quit jobs in "obedience to military despotism," according to announcement of general defense committee.

Continued outbreaks of violence against several women reported among crowd that beat a Northern Pacific shop employee at Tacoma, Wash.

(By Associated Press.) Chicago.—Disorders continued to flare in the rail strike during the early hours of its eighth week, despite peace negotiations pending at New York and assurances by chiefs of the "big four" that no sympathetic strike of train service employees impends to bring complete paralysis to railroad transportation.

While Michigan Central detectives were investigating the Gary, Ind., wreck, in which two of the train crew were killed early Sunday, violence broke out at scattered points from coast to coast. New disorders occurred at Columbia, S. C., where 11 men were attacked by a crowd of strike sympathizers. Hostilities broke out again at Yuma, Ariz., where four men were attacked and beaten. Shots were exchanged by guards and an unknown man in the Rio Grande Western yards at Berkeley, Colo., a suburb of Denver. The man who answered a guard's challenge by employing a gun at him was believed to have been badly wounded. He escaped, leaving a trail of blood.

Allen in Ultimatum

Hurryling to Kansas City following a riot in the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific shops there, Governor Allen of Kansas gave Harry Barr, 24, a note in which he restored order, threatening to send troops if the situation was not improved.

Sixteen hundred national guardsmen stood ready at Fort Riley to answer the governor's call. Official communications arose at Corbin, Ky., where Chief of Police Manning, a policeman and two deputy sheriffs were charged with resisting and interfering with U. S. Marshal Williams and his deputies in the discharge of their duties. Chief Manning is said to have insisted that the strikers be allowed to work on their way to serve restraining orders on strikers at Livingston, Ky.

Troops Held Ready

Troops were held ready to entrain for Spencer, N. C., where the situation has been tense for several days. The men of the St. Louis-Louisville line of the Southern railway at Princeton, Ind., who had been on strike since Saturday morning, turned to work and freight and passenger traffic which had been tied up was restored.

Chang Threat of Reprisals Alarms British Subjects

(By Associated Press.) Peking.—A grave alarm is felt by British subjects throughout Manchuria over the threat of Chang Tso-Lin, governor of the province, to withhold his protection of British lives and property in reprisal for what he calls British contempt of his authority. The Manchurian governor recently charged that Manchurian soldiers were killed with bombs hurled from British airplanes; that the British have been opposing a seizure of the railway extending from Shan Hai Kuan to Mukden, but have not protested the capture of Peking by Wu Pei Fu, who defeated Chang and revived the old republican parliament, nor the seizure of the Bankow station by him, and that the British were opposing his seizure of the salt revenues of Manchuria, thus discriminating in favor of other powers. He said he was determined to withhold his protection of British lives and property in reprisal for what he calls British contempt of his authority.

Although appearing none the worse for his experience at Eau Claire, Varley says he is minus his job as a result of it. Denying the story that he was employed as a strike-breaker, he declares he was working in Madison as a stationary fireman, until his arrest, Wednesday night. Telephoning his employers, he learned the job had been filled by someone else. Varley served 11 months overseas with the heavy artillery and is prominent in the American Legion post here. He says this is the first time he has ever been arrested.

"Arriving in Eau Claire with Under-Sheriff Steinkamp you can imagine how I felt when I ran into a crowd of 300 waiting at the station to take a peek at me, a 'murderer' said Varley.

The finger of suspicion pointed to Varley when stories gained circulation that he was working in Eau Claire up to two days from the date of the robbery and murder.

ARMY TRAINING TO KEEP PEACE, PLEA

Harding Favors Camp for 100,000 Yearly, Speaking to Civilians.

(By Associated Press.) Washington.—President Harding, in an address here Monday to citizen soldiers from Camp Meade, declared he favored military training for more than 100,000 civilians annually—not for prospective warfare, but to preserve peace.

After reviewing the civilian troops on the ellipse, adjacent to the white house grounds, the president called attention to the fact that 28,000 civilians were afforded training this summer, compared with 13,000 last year. The president said the review had given him new confidence and added that there was not a thought in America for armed warfare, the nation being concerned only in preserving peace of the world.

"I could not allow the opportunity to pass without a word of felicitation and congratulation," the president said, in part. "It is no more than the young men of America to turn from the ordinary engagement of the vacation season to a study of military service and training for peace. You have been benefited by learning discipline. You have benefited, as all America might well benefit, by learning a little more of the obligations of the citizen to his country."

POINCARE DEMANDS RUHR RESOURCES AS BERLIN PLEDGE

MORATORIUM WITHOUT SECURITY HELD IMPOSSIBLE. Means of Rebuilding Ravaged Area Demanded; Separate Action Hinted.

(By Associated Press.) Berlin, Dec. France.—France will not consent to a moratorium of any character to Germany unless the German state-mines of the Ruhr and the national forests are placed in the hands of the allies as a guarantee and no matter what happens, France will not depart from this policy. Such was the position of the French government with regard to the reparations question, as outlined Monday by Premier Poincare at the opening session of the general council of the department of the Meuse.

The premier disclaimed any desire on the part of France to ruin Germany under the guise of a demand for productive guarantees.

Demand Good Faith

The day Germany recognizes fully her obligations toward France and carries them out with good grace, declared M. Poincare, "we will not refuse to examine with her the best methods of assuring the prompt and regular execution of the treaty of Versailles."

Contrary to certain British spokesmen, continued the head of the French cabinet, "we are neither Nero, nor even Bismarck. We are simply a people who are attacked and who wish to have our rights restored. All we ask is the opportunity to continue in peace our daily tasks."

"We are greatly disposed to aid other nations in the effort to restore the world. We know the world does not end at our frontiers. We welcome a broad and generous European policy."

Would Keep Friends

"We desire to remain allies of our allies and friends of our friends. We wish nothing better than to resume, with our enemies of yesterday, pleasant and courteous relations. But we wish to have our rights restored—and they will be restored."

Premier Poincare ridiculed recent charges in certain German circles that France sought to enslave the German people in revenge for the devastation wrought during the war. "It is contrary to our desires, we are forced to take independent action without the approval of our allies," he continued. "We shall make no effort to obtain indemnities for the guarantees which we may take. We shall guard these guarantees in the interest of all and only until Germany consents to meet her just obligations."

Morrissey on Trail of Missing Priority Coal for Wisconsin Orders

(By Associated Press.) Madison.—J. D. Morrissey, representing the Wisconsin fuel committee, left for Washington Monday to determine what has become of the priority coal supposed to have been allotted and shipped to this state. The committee again Monday was without word of the 50,000 tons of coal which it had been informed would be on the docks last week, nor did it hear anything concerning the 400,000 tons said to be available for the present week.

W. S. HEDDLES, 61, DIES AT MADISON

Stroke Fatal to Prominent Lumberman, Born in County.

Willard S. Heddles, 61, managing partner of the Brittingham & Hixon Lumber company for more than 20 years and one of the most prominent men in Wisconsin, died at 7:30 Sunday morning at his home, 2 Langdon street, Madison. Death followed a stroke of paralysis suffered July 29. Mr. Heddles was particularly prominent in Edgerton where he was in the tobacco business, later a bank president, mayor for several terms and a leader in the Wisconsin lodge. At the time of his death he was chairman of the Wisconsin Tornado Relief commission. During the war he was chairman of the State Council of Defense. At one time he was urged to run for governor.

Lived in Porter Township.

He was born in the town of Porter, Rock county, in 1861, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Heddles who had come to Wisconsin from the east several years before, settling near the Spoonville homestead. At that time school was taught in that district by G. H. Rumliff, now in the tobacco business in Janesville.

As a young man, Mr. Heddles became interested in tobacco, and for several years was in that business for himself. Later he became associated with Brittingham and Hixon in his lumber business. At the time of his death that association had continued some 35 years. He also had a small chain of yards under the name of the Heddles Lumber company, but many years ago the interests of Brittingham, Hixon and Heddles were pooled, Mr. Heddles becoming the active or managing partner in both corporations. These two lumber companies now operate 29 yards, all in Wisconsin.

Moved to Madison in 1908.

His home was in Edgerton for many years, but about 1908 Mr. Heddles moved his family to Madison where they have since resided. While in Edgerton, he served several terms as mayor and was active in public affairs in many other ways. He was a

CONFERENCE RESUMED

Philadelphia.—Representatives of anthracite workers and operators assembled here again Monday in another effort to reconcile the differences between the two groups, which have kept the hard coal mines idle since April 1. Monday's meeting was scheduled for 4 p. m. Aside from the personal interest in solving the problem, out to the coal fields and in the city offices of the operators there has been a growing conviction that mines must be opened and men put to work to keep both sides of the country from suffering the loss of millions of dollars in wages as being lost and mine property worth other millions is deteriorating.

Washington.—Chairman Winslow of the house commerce committee, after a conference with President Harding, announced he would introduce immediately a bill to create a fact finding commission to examine the coal situation in his special message to congress.

The measure, Mr. Winslow said, would call for appointment by the president of a commission to investigate the coal situation and to report to the chief executive and congress by July 1, 1923. The commission would have wide powers of investigation including the right to examine the books of various coal producing companies.

Mr. Winslow said this committee would meet later in the day to consider the measure and to view to an immediate favorable report.

CLAIMS ISSUE VS. WEALTH VS. PEOPLE

Dnstad, La Follette Committee Secretary, Lauds Candidates.

Declaring that the issue at the September election is a fight between concentrated wealth and the common people, E. J. Onstad, Madison, secretary of the La Follette progressive committee, gave a progressive talk to nearly 20 persons at the East Side Old Fellows hall Sunday afternoon, at a meeting under auspices of the Big Four Brotherhood.

Onstad made attacks on the opponents of Senator La Follette and his ticket and went after the Janesville Gazette for an editorial entitled "The Lying La Follette," which appeared last Tuesday, in contradiction of the statement made by Senator La Follette that the Janesville Gazette could not tell the truth and that it was controlled by moneyed interests. The editorial branded La Follette as a liar for this statement.

Mr. Onstad declared that the article contained a lie which the Gazette would not deny. This he declared was the statement made in the editorial that La Follette had not done anything within the last six years.

"Now about the railroad transportation act? It was passed in March, 1920. That isn't six years ago," said Mr. Onstad. "Let them read Senator La Follette's speech on this law. That's their only instance of how newspapers are handling things."

Johnson Levittan Incident

Later in regard to the statement made at a meeting in the court house by Senator La Follette, Henry Johnson, that according to information he had received, Sol Levittan was advised after he had filed his income tax blank that he still owed more than $10,000, Mr. Onstad said that this was refuted by Sol Levittan who showed that he had been refunded $348 on this transaction.

Referring to the Gazette, he said: "Did they print that? No. In fact some of these newspapers have very good chances of being defendants in a suit for libel for printing the story of the statement made by Henry Johnson. The Eau Claire Telegram was fair enough to come out and apologize."

"There is no square man on God's footstool than Sol Levittan, a candidate for state treasurer," said Mr. Onstad.

Gives Credit to Blaine

The speaker went into detail on the claim of Governor Blaine that he was responsible for the payment of thousands of dollars into the state treasury from large corporations. He said that up to 1917 no one had thought or dreamed about the secrecy clause of the tax law. He said that the corporations were paying "small dividends." Then the war came on and the profits of corporations jumped 60 to 340 percent. He said Governor Philipp didn't care. He said Governor Philipp didn't care anything about it and nothing was heard about it until Governor Blaine had been in office about three months. He then appointed C. D. Rosa, Esq., to the tax commission and he immediately asked that auditors be appointed to go to the places of these large corporations and audit their books. This was because the state of $3,000,000 were in arrears on the face of them, Mr. Onstad said.

The speaker then turned to the situation in Rock county for senator, in which he applied to the women to support A. E. Garey, a dry.

Plea for Garey

"Everyone knows that Tommy Nolan is wet and a reactionary," he said. "The candidacy for Alexander E. Matheson, for the state senate was sidetracked by somebody and then along came the wettest, meanest, and dirtiest man in the state and he was elected. He also was sidetracked somehow. Mr. Onstad said that Mr. Shirey, of the Anti-Saloon league came into his office and wanted to know why the La Follette group wasn't going to put up a candidate in opposition to Mr. Nolan. He said that if they put up a dry candidate the Anti-Saloon league would support him. Mr. Garey is both a dry and a progressive."

"Now this anti-saloon league is trying to get another candidate to run for state senator in Rock county," Mr. Onstad declared. "They are stalwarts first and dry second. That's the kind of thing we have to deal with in this campaign."

Dry Law a Success

"They say Governor Blaine is wet. The Milwaukee law was the dry law of Wisconsin and allowed 275 beer when prohibition first came in force. The present law was signed by Governor Blaine and it is not a better law in the United States, it is even better than the Volstead act. They say there is no enforcement of the present law. A recent statement of the prohibition commissioner showed that $25,000 in fines had been turned into county treasurers in 10 months. The Matheson bill had some fatal defects. It would have allowed the grocery stores to sell extracts with alcoholic content up to 55 per cent. The attention of the originators was called to this but they refused to change it and it was vetoed by Governor Blaine. But this is not the big issue today. The big issue is making the big corporations pay their just shares of the cost of government. The proportion of taxes should be regulated on a scale by the amount of income. The larger the income the higher the rate of taxation."

Mr. Onstad said that there had been more corporations established in Wisconsin in the last decade than any state of like size in the union and intimated that this was due to the light burden of taxation placed on them here.

He declared that Morgan was talking about economy in government yet had asked $45,000 more as an appropriation for his department than any of his predecessors and had declared for the abolishment of many commissions.

"Do you know how they can get rid of the expense of the common schools?" he said. "You can get rid of the railroad commission expense by turning it over to the public utilities. They'll pay all expenses. Let the allied mills interest support the dairy commissioner and it won't cost the state a cent for his work."

Mr. Onstad concluded his talk with a plea for all the voters to go to the polls on Sept. 25.

CANVAS DEPICTS CHINESE VENICE

Strange, City of Careening Walls Attracts Attention at Chicago Exhibit.

Chicago.—A moonlit city of careening walls and barrel-curved bridges depicted on a canvas on display at the Chicago Art Institute has been taken by the casual visitor for a cubist's dream. "Not at all," said Arthur MacLean, curator of its Oriental section, "it is a representation, only slightly exaggerated, of Soochow, the Venice of China. I've been there, and it really looks like that."

It is the work of Alexander Jacobovitch, who has portrayed vividly the spirit of Asia, and whom the Art Institute is introducing to this country. He was discovered, so far as the United States is concerned, though he is known in Russia and Paris, by Director Robert B. Harsha. The collection of his paintings which we are exhibiting we shall send to various cities, probably including Cleveland and Toledo, O. St. Louis, Mo., Minneapolis, Minn., San Francisco, Cal., Rochester, N. Y., and Milwaukee, Wis.

Shows Oriental Thinkers

"Jacobovitch, a Russian, does what the Oriental always has done; he gives in monochrome the effect of varied things simply through extraordinary modeling. He also aptly represents, in the seamed faces of his Chinese and Japanese, the character of a wonderful race of thinkers."

The painter of Soochow is, truthfully, the houses there seem to be creeping toward one. That is because the inhabitants build over the water's edge. The eels of their dwellings resting upon rather unobtrusive piers, the earth the houses settle and the walls slant crazily, as in the picture. Yet it is a beautiful city. The bridges are purposely built so that their reflections in the water complete perfect circles.

"Similarly the colored, convoluted rock in Jacobovitch's decorative 'Soochow Fishers' from Soochow, Japan seems fanciful and unearthly, but is really quite like the lava formations at Oshima."

Shows Chinese Actor

"Jacobovitch's painting of the Chinese actor biting and handling the teacup, his hands and fingers illustrating the Chinese actor's use of some device to attract the audience to himself as well as to his role. The actor will be some symbol of his role, perhaps a makeup which is necessary, is replaced 'right in the midst of an act. He also provides some distinctive trait of dress or manner designed to fix his personal identity in the minds of the audience. Different as the Chinese stage conventions are from ours, the best actor I ever saw was a Chinese on a Chinese stage. Even the idea of powdering a man's face before the audience because in his warmth he is losing the effect of pulchritude considered essential to his role involves good psychology."

In one of his portraits Jacobovitch shows the beauty of the fat Chinese. As a fat Chinese is rare, he is inevitably revered and as inevitably becomes the head of his guild.

The barrel bridges shown in the painting of Soochow are so steep that when a foreigner is taken up in a chair, the chair has to be pushed up sideways lest he slip out. That takes up the whole width of the bridge, and the coolie calls warning all hands to make room. If perchance two chairs meet at the top of the bridge there is a warm argument between coolies concerning the right of way.

Uses Few Colors

"Even when he is not using monochrome Jacobovitch prefers to give the effect of variety in tone with a very few colors. He departs from precedent by achieving an analogous color scheme without using complementary colors."

Director Harsha said of Jacobovitch: "He gave to his two years' study in China pitiless scrutiny and a scalpel. It was as though he had read in 'The Chronicle of Nestor,' 'These people are shut in by sky-reaching hills, and through the small gate which is their only opening they look out from time to time and speak but no one understands them.' It is an Oriental Comedie Humaine which he has analyzed and synthetically spread before us."

Get Together, Warning

The foregoing gives the key to the next step if the 'craze' grows more dangerous to the public welfare. It is a plain threat against employers and employees alike in the rail and coal controversies and is the true purpose of Mr. Harding's message—a warning that the disputants had better get together, lest they be punished on charges of conspiracy to interrupt interstate commerce.

WAR "WHIZ-BANGS" NOW BLAST STUMPS

Government, Offers Wisconsin Farmers Picric Acid Cheap.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington.—The attention of farmers in all sections of the country to the free distribution of excess war explosives for farm work, is called by the United States Department of Agriculture. Since last fall the department, in co-operation with the various state agricultural colleges, has distributed 3,000,000 pounds of picric acid, a surplus explosive, which is very efficient, easy and safe to handle.

In Minnesota the State Agricultural College reports: "We feel that picric acid has been a great benefit to the state and has done a great deal to stimulate land clearing. All reports are to the effect that its use has been highly satisfactory. The 774,000 pounds distributed to Minnesota were distributed to 2,511 farmers, averaging 222 pounds per farmer. We estimate that this will clear 35,000 acres of land, and has made a saving of over $70,000 for the farmers of the state."

The economy of this explosive is emphasized by the department. In a recent circular stating that the falls distribution saved the farmers about $300,000 over the cost of other explosives. There are now available some 6,000,000 pounds of picric acid, and of this amount about 1,500,000 are available to each of the Lake States, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Picric acid is a high explosive which was used in large quantities during the war and is now being distributed to farmers for agricultural purposes, says the Department. No charge is made by the government for the explosive itself, but as it has to be dried out and carted before it can be used for peaceful uses the cost of this work must be paid for by the farmers.

Picric acid is a comparatively safe explosive and is used in the same way that other agricultural explosives are used. It has several advantages over commercial explosives in that it keeps indefinitely without deteriorating. It is not affected by heat or cold, and it does not cause headaches or other ill-effects when used in the open air. Because of its greater cost of manufacture, it will never be a competitor of commercial dynamites. It is being distributed for the purpose of increasing interest and activity in land clearing. The details of the method of distribution may be secured from the various state agricultural colleges.

Affirm Pandolfo - Prison Sentence

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago.—Sentence of Samuel C. Pandolfo, formerly head of the Pan Motor Company of St. Cloud, Minn., to 10 years in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $4,000 on conviction of a charge of using the mails to defraud, was affirmed Monday by the United States circuit court of appeals.

The government prosecution in the United States District Court more than a year ago was based on the sale of stock through the mails. It was charged that Pandolfo had resorted to the company as having assets of $2,000,000 and that tractors actually were being built and sold. More than $1,000,000 was alleged to have been obtained by stock sales throughout the country.

Witnesses from many cities appeared against Pandolfo and the trial lasted several weeks. A jury found Pandolfo guilty.

SNAKE, FOX, MONKEY USURP DOG'S PLACE AS MILADY'S PET

(By Associated Press.)
London.—The place long held by the dog as a family pet and street companion threatens to be usurped by the monkey and other exotic creatures. Women are becoming more and more fond of snakes, mongooses, foxes and parrots.

People also are getting accustomed to the woman with a young white fox on a string, another with three cats and the chimpanzee that rides in a motor car.

But the most startling innovation in family pets was observed at a lawn party where a guest carried what appeared to be a snake with a highly decorative handle. Close inspection revealed the "handle" to be a beautifully marked snake, perfectly motionless and unresisting, carrying its fair owner's arm and around her sunshade.

FEMINART

Here's old news—even if it was printed only recently in the esteemed New York Globe:

"Woman's dress has become not only as sensible as man's but more sensible. At a stroke it has become sensible as well as beautiful."

When, pray, was it ever otherwise? Trust woman now as always to choose her clothes according to the use she intends them for—and at the same time to unite art with utility. Wherever she goes, whatever she does, there is a magic art that matches her personality with the right clothes. It is the Feminart—a gift divine.

IT'S OPEN SEASON ON HUSBANDS! 'BYE, HOME! LO, HOOSGOW!

Now they're going to pry off what little semblance of a lid remains on the open season for husbands. Poor hubby is going to have just about as much chance from now on around the home diggin' as a bottle of 13 year old bourbon at a longshoreman's convention or a grand specialist at an undertakers' booster meeting.

What, with the 18th amendment, the high rate of alimony and the alienable right of a pretty wife to blow him full of holes and vamp her way out of the shadow of a murderer's cell, they now plan to add insult to injury.

Said bulletin containing the information that one State Senator Donnelly, married or single unknown, has introduced a bill among the underworked and overpaid legislators of his native state which provides that any husband who so far forgets his conjugal duties as to slip away without informing friend wife of his destination, duration of his absence, or obtaining her consent without resort to duress, shall be sent to the hoosgow at hard labor for not less than five anni or more than 20.

And that, ain't all, not by several longshots and a couple of parangas. The bill also provides: "If it further enacted that any married man who shall get the full consent of his wife to go fishing and fails to catch any fish, his wife shall have the right to cancel all permits in the future."

Now if the redoubtable Senator Donnelly would just amend his measure to provide that husbands must live in the doghouse, they could stop building schools in Georgia and turn those they already have into barred rooms.

No loyal and loving husband objects. Occasionally, to wearing a crown made out of a fruit jar at the whim of friend wife, or going to work in the morning with his pocket as clean as the German ex-chancellor after France collects its war debt; but you can't blame him if he rises up on his collective hind legs and commits a karl-huff after getting the latest bulletin from the front.

Said front being the well known and justly celebrated state of Georgia where husbands soon will be as scarce as movie stars without divorces.

Said bulletin containing the information that one State Senator Donnelly, married or single unknown, has introduced a bill among the underworked and overpaid legislators of his native state which provides that any husband who so far forgets his conjugal duties as to slip away without informing friend wife of his destination, duration of his absence, or obtaining her consent without resort to duress, shall be sent to the hoosgow at hard labor for not less than five anni or more than 20.

And that, ain't all, not by several longshots and a couple of parangas. The bill also provides: "If it further enacted that any married man who shall get the full consent of his wife to go fishing and fails to catch any fish, his wife shall have the right to cancel all permits in the future."

Now if the redoubtable Senator Donnelly would just amend his measure to provide that husbands must live in the doghouse, they could stop building schools in Georgia and turn those they already have into barred rooms.

HAS INVESTIGATED OVER 1000 TRUSTS

Morgan Tells of Work of Attorney General's Office in Two Years.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Milwaukee.—Attorney General William Morgan told his record in breaking price fixing combinations during his first term as attorney general and declared that if elected general he would be in position to carry out his plans for combating trusts, during a campaign address here Monday.

The candidate, opening the final stretch of his campaign for a nomination by the republican gubernatorial nomination, attacked the record of Gov. J. J. Blaine while he was attorney general and said that he had a tendency to talk rather than act when dealing with the corporation he attacked.

"If I am governor and I find any corporations or individuals who are defrauding the state or defrauding the people, I will not only prosecute them, but I will also make speeches about it," he added, referring to the governor. "There is no way of making a socialist and a republican fight by ballot, but there is a way of making a socialist and a republican fight by ballot."

Work of the Office. Referring to his work as attorney general, Morgan said that he had broken up more than 1000 trusts and price-fixing combinations and that he had saved the state over $1,000,000. He said that he had broken up more than 1000 trusts and price-fixing combinations and that he had saved the state over $1,000,000.

Mr. Morgan's enthusiasm for this kind of law enforcement against trusts and price-fixing combinations was evident when he was asked by a reporter whether he was a socialist or a republican. He replied: "I am a socialist and a republican."

Attorney General Morgan declared that he had broken up more than 1000 trusts and price-fixing combinations and that he had saved the state over $1,000,000. He said that he had broken up more than 1000 trusts and price-fixing combinations and that he had saved the state over $1,000,000.

As a result of threatened suit against the Milwaukee Journal, Attorney General Morgan said he had brought a reduction of two cents in the price of bread and had saved the people of the state half a million dollars from that one investigation.

"One reason I want to be governor," he continued, "is that I want to see continued the vigorous enforcement of laws against trusts and price-fixing combinations that I have inaugurated as attorney general. I have no doubt that many of my friends will support me for governor, but I want to tell you that if you give me the job, I will give you the best of my effort to break up trusts and price-fixing combinations."

"I give my word that if you give me the job, I will give you the best of my effort to break up trusts and price-fixing combinations. I will give you the best of my effort to break up trusts and price-fixing combinations. I will give you the best of my effort to break up trusts and price-fixing combinations."

Chicago "Love Healer" in Toils; Treated Homes to Make 'em Divorce Proof

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago.—Albert J. Moore, self-styled "love healer," today was brought into police court to face charges of deception in practice of a religious cult in connection with collection of thousands of dollars from some of Chicago's most prominent society women to "heal their homes" and make them divorce proof. Formal hearing of the case was set for next Tuesday.

Moore, given the title of "doctor" by his followers, is head of the "Life Institute." According to information in the hands of the city prosecutor, the institute specialized in home healing and held meetings in its temple regularly. Delegations sent from the temple to various homes and after a few days of special services and incantations the home was pronounced divorce proof and the occupants were promised that they would live happily ever after.

The complaint against Moore was sworn out by W. W. Treadwell, head of the city's largest ice cream manufacturing concern, who said he was acting for his wife.

WHAT MAKES WILD BILL WILD? WHY, "CREAM PUFFS"

Ladies and gentlemen: You now know what makes the "Wild Bill" wild. Cream puffs. Nothing more or less. Imagine two-fisted, two-gun Bill Hart, the rough riding bimbo, being called "Cream Puff." His wife, Winnie Westover, says that if what she used to call Wild Bill. Be that as it may, the Harts are separated. More scandal! So are Marshall Neilan and Blanche Sweet. And Gloria Swanson, who promised not to marry again while she was divorced, just couldn't stay out of the limelight. She is divorced from Herbert Sanford. Outside of that all is lay.

THEY'RE HELPING BROWNS TO STICK AROUND TOP

Lee Fohl's superb handling of his pitchers, old and young, and the brilliant infielding of McManus at second, are two of the high spots in the spectacular race the St. Louis Browns continue to run. Urban Shocker is a veteran of many campaigns. Bayne is an experienced hurler though still young. McManus, in a brief season, has made a bid for a second. Van Gilder's youngster.

LETTERS AIR FILM STAR'S LOVE FOR CHILD

Herbert Rawlinson and his child sweetheart, Dorothy Clark.

A strange tale of the love of a thirty-seven-year-old man for an eleven-year-old child is being aired through the publication of the alleged letters of Herbert Rawlinson, movie star, to Dorothy Clark, letters protesting undying love for the baby dancer. The child's mother now is suing Rawlinson for alleged mistreatment of the girl. Rawlinson recently was divorced.

ENGLISH TRAINS DIFFER FROM U. S.

Bulletin Tells of Customs Quaint in Eyes of Yank Travellers.

Washington.—When Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, in a recent, after-dinner speech before the Pilgrims society in London, urged Britons to travel more extensively in America, he pointed out that Americans have traveled in England for years. Despite the frequency of travel to the British Isles, Americans still find that our English cousins do many things which strike us as peculiar, including a communication to the National Geographic Society by Ralph A. Graves.

For example, the American is traveling first-class (corresponding to our Pullman and our chair cars) he finds that each compartment, as a rule, accommodates six travelers—three on each side, with arms allotted the proper space for each traveler. The third class compartments accommodate eight persons, and in the majority of cases on the trunk lines all the spaces are taken. There is seldom difficulty in obtaining first-class seats, and this is the chief advantage for which from 30 to 40 per cent higher fare is paid.

While means "All Aboard." The traveler usually delegates to the porter with his luggage the task of finding a seat. A bag and coat may be placed on a seat to claim it for the traveler who may defer boarding the car until a shrill warning whistle blows.

If the traveler is going on a crowded train he would do well to obtain from the head-attendant of the dining car a "first sitting" card before the train starts. After the train is under way an assistant attendant comes through the car, announcing that breakfast is ready for those holding first-sitting cards.

Dining Cars Differ. Most of the English dining cars differ considerably from American diners. The passengers sit in high-backed, padded chairs. The breakfasts are usually of the club variety, there being little choice for the traveler. First our assistant attendant appears with individual dishes of porridge (oatmeal) rather than the American standard because it has been cooked without the suggestion of salt. This attendant is perched by a second with hot milk, which he pours on the porridge if the traveler acquiesces. A third attendant follows with a huge pot of coffee in one hand and another of equal size filled with hot milk in the other. He fills your coffee cup with the coffee and pours the milk simultaneously and in equal quantities. Then comes the bread-basket attendant who allows you to take a roll or a "hunk of bread" (it is seldom cut in thin slices).

The porridge or oatmeal is eaten with milk (or cream) and sugar, the latter obtained from shakers with patent caps which seal the shaker when placed upright on the table or in the wooden self-heating screw-on the window sill. The salt is poured from a shaker with a little funnel in the top and, strange to say, even though the climate of England is exceedingly damp, the salt does not flow freely at all times and never cakes in the shaker.

Ice Water Missing. The porridge course completed, our hurrying attendant removes the plates while a second asks if you will have place set for drinks. Perhaps you know what he says, perhaps you don't, but you are being given your choice of fresh fish or kippered herrings. Meantime, your cup is refilled with milk and coffee of which you doubtless drink a good deal, not because you like English-made coffee but because there is nothing else to drink; the ubiquitous glass of "ice water" of the American dining car is conspicuous for its absence. After fish, the traveler is usually given a choice of egg and bacon, never broiled crisp but apparently only boiled.

HEDDIES, PROMINENT LUMBERMAN, DIES

prominent Mason and took special interest in the building of the beautiful Masonic temple recently completed in Edgerton.

In Edgerton, he was president of the Tobacco Exchange bank and was one of the partners of the Edgerton Sheep Penning station. For years interested in the local cemetery association, it was largely through his efforts that the association was able to build large gates at the entrance and the ornamental fence.

Mr. Heddies' interest in the community and public affairs did not cease when he moved to Madison. For years he was prominent in the Rotary club, had been a member of the Congregational church, one of the board of St. Mary's hospital and president of the Woodmen of the World. At the time he was taken ill, he was spending much of his time on the drive for funds being now put on by the hospital.

During the war Mr. Heddies was state chairman of the State Council of Defense. It was his work in that capacity which first broke his health and which led to a long illness. While the car strike was on in Milwaukee, he worked several days without sleep until he finally reached a middle ground on which both sides were satisfied. For his unusual and effective work during the war, many of his friends wanted him to stand for governor but his health would not permit.

Born and raised on a farm, his interest in farming and farmers never lagged. Near Cooksville, he had a large farm stocked with blue blooded Clydesdale and other prize stock. His interest in the tractor business was that of a farmer.

In Janesville, Mr. Heddies was well known as he took an active interest in the business here. Thursday he was taken ill, he was to have come to Janesville for a final decision on a plan for the erection of a building for the new year's beginning. Heddies are building on South River street.

His last visit to Rock county was July 28 when he arrived at the Soldiers' plant in Portia township. The next day he was stricken with paralysis.

Mr. Heddies is survived by his wife and two daughters, Beulah and Rena Heddies Teckmeyer, Madison. A brother, Frank, living in the west but too ill to attend the funeral; a sister, Mrs. Belle Wilson, Edgerton, also survived.

Funeral services will be held at the home in Madison at 11 a. m. Tuesday and at the Masonic temple in Edgerton will be: William Bussey and L. J. Dickenson, vice-presidents of the Tobacco Exchange bank; Henry Johnson, insurance man; Edward Talcott, vice-president of the Tobacco Exchange bank; Lawrence Hutton, Heddies Lumber company; and A. E. Skinner, general manager, Birmingham & Hixon on Lombard.

The death of W. S. Heddies marks the passing of the third one of a group active in Edgerton and Rock county for years. His wife, Mrs. Heddies, died in 1918. His son, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Earle, both died in April. Mr. Earle was executor of his father's estate and also one of which Mr. Earle had been executor.

Yards of the Birmingham & Hixon company in Edgerton and Oxfordville in Edgerton, will be closed Tuesday afternoon.

Giant Concrete Mixer Placed on Ringold St. Job

One of the biggest concrete paving machines in Southern Wisconsin will be set in operation by Wednesday by Hayes, Fountain, Hayes, Janesville contractors, on the Ringold street paving. The giant mixer was unloaded Saturday afternoon.

The Multifoote machine holds 38 cubic feet of dry material and will pour a cubic foot of mix a minute. The machine is equipped with the automatic timer which prevents the operator tripping the drum until there has been a full minute's mixing of the road material. The machine has a conical drum, somewhat different from that on the county paver. The outfit is mounted on caterpillar wheels and is propelled by a 10 horse power motor that has a reverse fan to blow away the dust. The cement is run out over the street by a 20-foot boom.

The machine is to be used on the Bill Hodge

Up in the pine woods is a settlement of a few houses and one store. Over the store front is a sign "Bill Hodge Keeps This Place. This Place Keeps Bill." Bill and I sat on the store steps and talked all through the long Northern twilight, and I got his philosophy. He "keeps" his store, so his store "keeps" him. He is honest toward his business, gives it the best that is in him, and in return the store gives him the reward that always comes from honest, consistent effort. I made up my mind that I would write an "ad" applying Bill's philosophy to a savings account, suggesting how the account would reward and "keep" you if you "kept" it faithfully, honestly, patiently. And this is the "ad."

CATTLE.—Cattle sold on improving market of the week better than was in strong request, and while the buying side endeavored to keep the top winter cattle for sale, they were unable to satisfy the demand, which resulted in the sale of some cattle that lacked extreme quality in their quality and finish. Many sales looked 25c to 40c higher for the week, but the other hand, there was little change in the value of low grade and unselected cattle.

Receipts last week, including Saturday's estimate, were only about 400 head less than the previous week, although the railroads could not handle all the cattle offered for shipment and late arrivals were not counted.

The week's run totaled about 1,300 more than arrived the corresponding week last year.

Butcher stock advanced from $1 to $2 on better grades of beef carcasses and fat.

Quotations for low grade killing steers and native beef cattle follow:

Low grade steers	$4.00 to $4.50
Common to fair cows	$3.75 to $4.25

Cows and heifers improved unevenly last week. Many sales of fairly good cows and heifers showed a 50c improvement toward the middle of the week, but the close was dull, with part of the advance gone.

GRAIN

Chicago Review.—Extreme weakness at Liverpool was reflected in the wheat market and caused a decline in values during the early delivery. All deliveries went to a new high of a dollar. Support came mainly from shorts, while some stop loss orders were being filled.

Receipts of wheat Monday were estimated at 450,000 bushels. Sales of 400,000 bushels of wheat were made on the season last Saturday and early Monday with more business in the market.

Wheat prices declined with Sept. 5% and Dec. 1.00% to 1.00%, was followed by a slight general advance all week.

Covering by shorts later became general and the market rallied and closed with a slight advance.

OFFER BIG FUNDS FOR JUNIOR CLUBS

Interest Growing in Boys and Girls' Farm Contests in County.

Nearly three-quarters of a million dollars is being offered in prizes for boys and girls in club work this year in the United States. This is exclusive of the Smith-Lever funds appropriated by the government and matched by the state to conduct the work.

This large sum of money is provided by fair associations, live stock and breed associations, manufacturers, bankers and bankers' associations, packers and packers' associations, public bureaus, land companies, publishers, boards of agriculture, Grange, stockyard companies, commission firms, livestock exchange, directors of extension, individuals, and by the junior clubs themselves.

The diversity of the source of the prize offerings is almost as astonishing as the amount which is offered. And yet, it is not to be wondered at since boys' and girls' club work is recognized as the movement which is doing more than any other one thing to further our agricultural progress.

Donors of Funds.

Among the heaviest contributors are the fair associations, which give exclusive of the county fair, some $100,000. This of itself proves that boys' and girls' club work is a paying thing and that the public at large is interested in the work.

The breed associations are second in their generosity, and more aptly, in their sound business sense. Three of the large pure-bred cattle associations are offering $100,000 each, and prominent breeders of horses, sheep and swine also contribute.

There are also many individuals who are generous. Some of the large pure-bred cattle associations are offering $100,000 each, and prominent breeders of horses, sheep and swine also contribute.

CLAIMS ISSUE IS WEALTH VS. PEOPLE

Onstad, La Follette Committee Secretary, Lauds Candidates.

Declaring that the issue at the September election is a fight between concentrated wealth and the common people, E. J. Onstad, national secretary of the La Follette progressive committee, gave a political talk before nearly 30 persons at the East Side Old Fellows hall Sunday afternoon, at a meeting under auspices of the Big Four Brotherhood.

He made attacks on the opponents of Senator La Follette and his ticket and went after the Janesville Gazette for an editorial entitled "The La Follette Lie" which appeared last Tuesday. In contradiction of the statement made by Senator La Follette that the Janesville Gazette editorial was controlled by moneyed interests, the editorial branded La Follette as a liar for this statement.

Mr. Onstad declared that the article contained a lie which the Gazette could not deny. This he declared was the statement made in the editorial that La Follette had not done anything within the last six years.

"How about the railroad transportation act? It was passed in March, 1920. That isn't six years ago," said Mr. Onstad. "Let them read Senator La Follette's speech on the subject. It is only one instance of how newspapers are handling things."

Johnson Levitan Incident

Later in regard to the statement made at a meeting in the court house park by State Treasurer Henry Johnson that according to information he had received, Sol Levitan was advised after he had filed his income tax return that he still owed more than $2,000, Mr. Onstad said that this was refuted by Sol Levitan who showed that he had been refunded $228 on this transaction.

"According to the Gazette, he said: 'Did they print that? No. In fact, some of these newspapers have very good chances of being defendants in a suit for libel for printing the story of the statement made by Henry Johnson. Even the Eau Claire Telegram was fair enough to come out and apologize.'"

"There is no squarer man on God's earth than Sol Levitan, candidate for state treasurer," said Mr. Onstad.

Gives Credit to Blaine

The speaker went into detail on the claim of Governor Blaine that he was responsible for the payment of thousands of dollars into the state treasury from large corporations. He said that up to 1917 no one had thought or dreamed about the responsibility of the tax law. Corporations were paying small dividends. Then the war came on and the profits of corporations jumped 50 to 100 percent. He said Governor Blaine didn't care anything about it and nothing was heard about it until Governor Blaine had been in office about three months. He then appointed C. D. Ross, Rock, to the tax commission and he immediately asked that auditors be appointed to go to the places of these large corporations and audit their books. This was accepted and the return of 3,500 corporations were incorrect on the face of them, Mr. Onstad said.

The speaker then turned to the situation in Rock county for senators in which he appealed to the women to support A. E. Garey, a dry.

Plea for Garey

"Everyone knows that Tommy Nolan is wet and a reactionary," he said.

He said that the candidacy for Alexander E. Matheson, for the state senate was sidetracked by somebody and then along came Lawrence Whitaker and the dry, and he also was sidetracked somehow.

Mr. Onstad said that Mr. Shirey, of the Anti-Saloon league came into his office and wanted to know whether the La Follette group wasn't going to put up a candidate in opposition to Mr. Nolan. He said that if they put up a dry candidate the Anti-Saloon league would support him. Mr. Garey is both a dry and a pro-Saloon.

"Now this anti-saloon league is trying to get another candidate to run for state senator in Rock county," Mr. Onstad declared. "They are making a third time success. That's the kind of thing we have to deal with in this campaign."

Dry Law a Success

"They say Governor Blaine is wet," The Milwaukee law was the dry law of Wisconsin and allowed 2.75 beer, when prohibition first came in force. The present law was signed by Governor Blaine and there is not a better law in the United States. It is even better than the Volstead act. They say there is no enforcement of the present law. A recent statement of the prohibition commissioner showed that $238,000 in fines had been turned into county treasuries in 10 months. The Matheson bill had some fatal defects. It would have allowed the grocery stores to sell extracts with alcoholic content up to 5 per cent. The attention of the originators was called to this but they refused to change it and the bill was vetoed by Governor Blaine. But this is not the big issue today. The big issue is making the big corporations pay their just shares of the cost of government. The proportion of taxes should be regulated on a scale by the income of the taxpayer. The larger the income the higher the rate of taxation."

Mr. Onstad said that there had been more corporations established in Wisconsin in the last decade than any state of like size in the union and intimated that this was due to the light burden of taxation placed on them here.

He declared that Morgan was talking about economy in government yet had asked $45,000 more as an appropriation for his department than any of his predecessors, and had declared for the abolishment of many commissions.

"Do you know how they can get rid of the expenses of the commissions?" he said. "You can get rid of the railroad commission expense by turning it over to the public utilities. They'll pay all expenses. Let the filled milk interests appoint the dairy commissioner and it won't cost the state a cent for his work."

Mr. Onstad concluded his talk with a plea for the voters to go to the polls on Sept. 3.

HARDING MESSAGE IS HELD LARGELY REPLY TO CRITICS.

and treaty obligations were involved make an inquiry through a federal grand jury. If this is possible the Harding administration has decided against it and sought to place the matter before congress. Whether the chance is it will remain, as it has for a generation, an academic question. As for the other requests of Mr. Harding that coal profiteering be stopped by means of a national coal agency controlled by the federal government, the average member of congress fights shy of government price regulation or rather legislation. In that direction for it can be applied to coal the present might be used in other articles of commerce necessary to life.

Laws Inadequate, Feeling.

Most members of congress feel that the laws already on the statute books are adequate, that the price-fixing or monopolies in restraint of trade are well covered by the Sherman anti-trust law and other statutes and that the department of justice can cure profiteering by indicting a few profiteers. So congress will not worry about that phase of the question.

Legislation to make the decisions of the department of justice court enforceable has been talked of ever since the transportation act of 1920 was passed. But with the prospect of a settlement of the rail strike through the mediation efforts of the brotherhood chiefs, congress is unwilling to intervene at this time. In fact Mr. Harding hints it would be unwise. When the strikes are over, however, congress will not feel the compulsion to duty any more strongly than in the months that have elapsed since the transportation act was passed when the attitude of curriers and employees alike showed the necessity for teeth in the law to increase the prestige and authority of the labor board.

Milds Draconic Action.

About the only significant sentence in the whole message of President Harding, and on the surface it is considered by some members of congress to contradict the earlier requests for power from congress, is contained in the last sentence of the address which says: "Wherefore I am resolved to use all the power of the government to maintain transportation and sustain the right of men to work."

CANVAS DEPICTS CHINESE VENICE

Strange City of Careening Walls Attracts Attention at Chicago Exhibit.

Chicago.—A moonlit city of careening walls and barrel-shaped bridges depicted on a canvas on display at the Chicago Art Institute has been taken by the casual visitor for a cubist's dream. "Not at all," said J. Arthur MacLean, assistant director of the institute and curator of its Oriental department. "It is a representation, only slightly exaggerated, of Soochow, the Venice of China. I've been there, and it really looks like that."

"It is the work of Alexander Jacovlev, a Russian, who portrayed vividly the spirit of Asia, and whom the Art Institute is introducing to this country. He was discovered, so far as the United States is concerned, though he is known in Russia and Paris, by Director Robert E. Harsho. The collection of his paintings which we are exhibiting we shall send to various cities, probably including Cleveland and Toledo, O. St. Louis, Mo. Minneapolis, N. Y., and Milwaukee, Wis."

Shows Oriental Thinkers.

"Jacovlev, a Russian, does what the Oriental always has done; he gives in monochrome the effect of varied color simply through extraordinary coloring. He also ably represents in the seemed faces of his Chinese and Japanese, the character of a wonderful race of thinkers."

"The painting of Soochow is truthful. The houses seem to be built on top of each other. That is because the inhabitants build over the water's edge. The oils of their dwellings resting upon rather unsubstantial piles. When the water was away the houses settle and the walls slant crazily, as in the picture. Yet it is a beautiful city. The bridges are purposely built so that their reflections in the water complete perfect circles."

"Similarly the colored, convoluted rock in Jacovlev's decorative 'Seafood Fishers from Oshima Island, Japan' seems fanciful and uncertainly, but is really quite like the lava formations of Hawaii."

Shows Chinese Actor.

"Jacovlev's painting of the Chinese actor biting and handling the feathers of his headdress illustrates the Chinese actor's use of some device to attract the audience to himself as well as to his role. The actor will bear some symbol of his role, perhaps simply a lotus bud, perhaps a pallid makeup which if necessary is replenished right in the midst of an act. He also provides some distinctive article of dress or manner designed to fix his personal identity in the minds of his audience. Different as the Chinese stage conventions are from ours, the best actor I ever saw was a Chinese on a Chinese stage. Even the idea of powdering a man's face before the audience because in his warmth he is losing the effect of make-up considered essential to his role involves good psychology."

"To one of his portraits Jacovlev shows the dignity of the fat Chinese. As a fat Chinese is rare, he is inevitably revered and as inevitably becomes the head of his guild."

"The barrel-shaped houses shown in the painting of Soochow are so steep that when a foreigner is taken up in a chair, the chair has to be pushed up sideways lest he slip out. That takes up the whole width of the bridge, and the coolie calls warning all hands to make room. If perchance two chairs meet at the top of the bridge there is a warm argument between coolies concerning the right of way."

Uses Few Colors.

"Even when he is not using monochrome Jacovlev prefers to give the effect of variety in tone with a very few colors. He departs from precedent by achieving an analogous color scheme without using complementary colors."

"Director Harsho said of Jacovlev: 'He gave to his two years' study in China pitiless scrutiny and a Zolaesque scalpel. It was as though he had read in The Chronicle of Nestor, 'These people are shut in by steep, touching hills, and through the small gate which is their only opening they look out from time to time and speak but no one understands them.' It is the Oriental Comedie Humaine which he has analyzed and synthetically spread before us."

quarters that Mr. E. Ding confessed that in an emergency the federal government did have enough power to act. This may mean that a failure of the peace negotiations at New York between rail executives and shippers will be followed by drastic action of some kind under existing law. In one part of the message the president makes this all important statement: "There is existing labor law by which to settle the prevailing disputes. There are statutes forbidding conspiracy to hinder interstate commerce. There are laws to assure the highest possible safety in railway service. It is my purpose to invoke these laws, civil and criminal, against all offenders alike."

Get Together, Warning.

The foregoing gives the key to the next step if the crisis grows more dangerous to the public welfare. It is a plain threat against employers and employees alike in the rail and coal controversies and is the purpose of Mr. Harding's message—a warning that the disputants had better get together lest they be punished on charges of conspiracy to interrupt interstate commerce.

WAR "WHIZ-BANGS" NOW BLAST STUMPS

Government Offers Wisconsin Farmers Picric Acid Cheap.

[By Associated Press.]

Washington.—The attention of farmers in all sections of the country to the free distribution of excess war explosives for farm work, is called by the United States Department of Agriculture. Since last fall the department in co-operation with the various state agricultural colleges, has distributed 3,000,000 pounds of picric acid, a surplus explosive, which is very efficient, easy and safe to handle.

In Minnesota, the State Agricultural College reports: "We feel that picric acid has been a great benefit to the state and has done a great deal to stimulate land clearing. All reports are to the effect that its use has been highly satisfactory. The 774,000 pounds allotted to Minnesota were distributed to 3,511 farmers, averaging 222 pounds per farmer. We estimate that this will clear 35,000 acres of land, and has made a saving of over $70,000 for the farmers of the state."

The economy of this explosive is emphasized by the department in a recent circular showing that last fall's distribution saved the farmers

about $300,000 over the cost of other explosives. There are now available some 6,000,000 pounds of picric acid, and of this amount about 1,500,000 are available to each of the Lake States, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Picric acid is a high explosive which was used in large quantities during the war and is now being distributed to farmers for agricultural purposes, says the Department. No charge is made, by the government for the explosive itself, but as it has to be dried out and carted before it can be used for peaceful uses the cost of this work must be paid for by the farmers.

Picric acid is a comparatively safe explosive and is used in the same way that other agricultural explosives are used. It has several advantages over commercial explosives in that it keeps indefinitely without deteriorating, it is not affected by heat or cold, and it does not cause headaches or other ill-effects when used in the open air. Because of its greater cost of manufacture, it will never be a competitor of commercial dynamites. It is being distributed for the purpose of increasing interest and activity in land clearing. The details of the method of distribution may be secured from the various state agricultural colleges.

Safeguarding a Name

What's in a name? Why is one name not as good as another?

A name is a merchant's trade-mark by which you judge the sincerity of his advertised statements, the worth of his promises, the extent of returns you enjoy from your expenditures in his store.

A name, then, to be a good trade-mark, must be safeguarded.

FINAL SPURT OF PRIMARY BATTLE

Candidates and Others in the Field Will Keep Busy This Week.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

SNAKE, FOX, MONKEY USURP DOG'S PLACE AS MILADY'S PET

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London.—The place long held by the dog as a family pet and street companion threatens to be usurped by the monkey and other exotic creatures. Women are soon carrying marmosets, mongooses, foxes and parrots.

People also are getting accustomed to the woman with a young white fox on a string, another with three cats and the chimpanzee that rides in a motor car.

But the most startling innovation in family pets was observed at a lawn party where a guest carried what appeared to be a sunshade with a high-peaked decorative handle. Close inspection revealed the "handle" to be a beautifully marked snake, perfectly motionless and carefully coiled over its fair owner's arm and around her sunshade.

FEMINART

Here's old news—even if it was printed only recently in the esteemed New York Globe:

"Woman's dress has become not only as sensible as man's, but more sensible. At a stroke it has become sensible as well as beautiful."

When, pray, was it ever otherwise? Trust woman now as always to choose her clothes according to the use she intends them for—and at the same time to unite art with utility. Wherever she goes, whatever she does, there is a magic art that matches her personality with the right clothes. It is the Feminart—a gift divine.

IT'S OPEN SEASON ON HUSBANDS! 'BYE, HOME! 'LO, HOOSGOW!

Now they're going to pry off what little semblance of a lid remains on the open season for husbands.

Poor hubby is going to have just about as much chance from now on around the home diggin' as a bottle of 12 year old bourbon at a longshoremen's convention or a gland specialist at an undertakers' booster meeting.

What, with the 18th amendment, the high rate of alimony and the inalienable right of a pretty wife to blow him full of holes and vamp her way out of the shadow of a murderer's cell, they now plan to add insult to injury.

No loyal and loving husband objects, occasionally, to wearing a crown made out of a grille bar at the whim of friend wife, or going to work in the morning with his pocket-as clean as the German exchequer after France collects its war debt; but you can't blame him if he rises up on his collective hindlegs and commits kari-hari after getting the latest bulletin from the front.

Said front being the well known and justly celebrated state of Georgia where husbands soon will be as scarce as movie stars without divorces.

Said bulletin containing the information that one State Senator Dennis Blain, married or single unknown, has introduced a bill among the underworked and overpaid legislators of his native state which provides that any husband who so far forgets his conjugal duties as to slip away without informing friend wife of his destination, duration of his absence, or obtaining her consent without resort to duress, shall be sent to the hoosgow at hard labor for not less than five anni or more than 20.

And that ain't all, not by several longshots and a couple of parasaungs. The bill also provides: "Be it further enacted that any married man who shall get the full consent of his wife to go fishing and falls to catch any fish, his wife shall have the right to cancel all permits in the future."

Now if the redoubtable Senator Blain would just amend his measure to provide that husbands must live in the doghouse, they could stop building schools in Georgia and turn those they already have into barred

41 NON-UNION MEN AT SO. JANSVILLE

29 Brought in From Chicago—
20 at St. Paul
Shops.

Twenty-nine non-union carmen and mechanics were brought to Jansville Sunday night to take the place of strikers at the South Jansville yards of the Chicago & North Western railway. The men were carried in on a special train from Chicago.

This makes a total of 41 now at work in the Northwestern shops. Twelve men have been working at the yards since the strike in the engineering department who have been put on as machinists.

Six of the men brought here Sunday night quit work Monday morning.

The men are housed in a camp of box cars in the yards. Armed guards are spread around the camp to keep intruders out.

Reporters are barred. Admission of representatives of the press to South Jansville railroad yards was again denied Monday.

Special Agent H. Ringold, Madison, in charge of the Milwaukee division, Jansville district, informed the Gazette over the telephone that none of its reporters would be admitted to South Jansville railroad yards.

Agent Ringold expressed surprise when informed railroad detectives here had assumed authority over men deputized by Chicago to guard railroad property.

"If Mr. Ringold told you people to keep out at South Jansville, I would do it if I were you," said a representative of the Milwaukee division.

"I have 13 men out there whom I have deputized. The railroad company paid their bond and are paying their wages. I have insisted, through their one of my men take charge during the day, and one at night. They report direct to Mr. Ringold. They haven't had any trouble of any kind at South Jansville."

There was one more strike at the railroad company that tried to take charge there, but I wouldn't stand for it. He has been taken away from here."

20 at St. Paul Shops.

There are 20 men at work in the shops of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway at the South Jansville street roundhouse.

Constant minor defects are being experienced by both the C. & N. W. and the C. & M. P. locomotives.

Several locomotives have been brought here from Chicago to do switching in the South Jansville Northwestern yards.

Strikers Not at Work.

No union man was implicated in the week of a passenger train at the south way, Madison, last night.

According to a confidential report given out by Charles Swan, secretary of the strikers' organization here, after a thorough investigation had been made by Superintendent J. A. McDonald, Madison, declared:

"We feel certain that someone threw the switch. We cannot find out who did it, however."

A statement of the week by Frank Maxwell, Madison, division train master, is to the effect that the switch could not have thrown itself, even if left unlocked by an employee.

Information reaching the Gazette from a private source, officials of the eastern railways are gathering a great mass of data to be taken to the maintenance of way repeating at Chicago next Monday.

"Strike in Wren" Jewell.

In a statement given to the official weekly newspaper of the 16 railroad organizations, E. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, said:

"The strike is won and all that is necessary is for railroad employees to do as they had all during the strike."

Constant statements are being made by the strikers' representatives here and over the nation that the public with roads are doing the work of the rolling stock is in good condition.

They state the locomotives are in poor shape.

LOOKS TO WOMEN
FOR "DRY" VOTES

Twining Says Silent Vote Will Tell in Primary Election.

The silent vote of suffering women will tell in the primary election said Ray C. Twining, district attorney of Jefferson county, speaking before a large audience at the Jansville hotel Sunday evening.

Twining said in speaking on the topic "How to Do It" there is a fixed determination among right thinking people that the wet forces must not come back to power.

He showed from the reports of Wayne B. Wheeler, attorney for the Anti-Saloon league that in nearly 300 primary elections already held in the nation of two to one, his message emphasized the seriousness of the moonshine traffic in that it caused many cases of blindness, insanity and death.

Don't Wait for Police.
He told a dramatic story of the clean-up of Jefferson county which started on Nov. 5 last, when liquor was taken out of 35 saloons.

Twining said, "This cost the county, he said, something like $3600, and this amount had been paid through the fines imposed on saloons."

Giant Concrete Mixer Placed on Ringold St. Job

One of the largest concrete paving machines in Southern Wisconsin will be set in operation by Wednesday.

By Hayes, Fountain, Hayes, Jansville contractors, on the Ringold street paving.

The machine is equipped with the automatic mixer which prevents the operator tripping the drum until the concrete is thoroughly mixed.

The machine has a conical drum, somewhat different from the one on the equity paver. The outfit is mounted on caterpillar wheels and is propelled by a 40 horse power motor that has a reverse fan to blow away the dust.

The machine is to be used on the contract job to pave 2.5 blocks on Ringold street, South Second and along Parkwood addition. The cost is said to be $5000.

Send every energy to slash the high school building so it may be used before the end of 1922. With the completion, the problem of a community-center will be solved. THE PASSAGE OF THE TARIFF BILL

With a decisive vote of 48 to 25 the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill has passed the senate and gone to conference with the committee of the House to adjust and rationalize the senate amendments. It may take some time yet for the committee to report because so many amendments have been added in the senate since the bill came from the House.

No one will claim the bill is a perfect one. Nor will anyone who believes in the American doctrine of protection for one moment accept as truth the lies which have been told about the bill and its provisions nor that dire results will follow its enactment. We had 35 cent sugar when there was practically no duty on sugar and it is an economic fact that the consumer has never paid the duty in its full measure. Those who are so fearful that England and Germany will be injured because there will be a barrier against all the goods made by cheaper labor over that that cannot get in, may be grievously disappointed.

There has been so much political bunk about the tariff both by friends and foes that it is hard for the average layman to readily grasp just what it does provide. But we do know that we have built up our nation to commercial and industrial greatness on a tariff for protection and with rehabilitated Europe clamoring for admission with a world of cheaper goods we have a better opportunity of keeping the home fires burning in the factories with a protective tariff than without.

Inequalities and injustices in the bill may be corrected by amendment as they arise. One of the satisfactory things about it is that it is done and we may get some attention to other legislation needed to meet the crises that confront us.

The backbone of summer seems to have taken an awful hump.

A LIVE STOCK EXHIBIT

Rock county's exhibit of live stock at the Dane county and state fairs will be a revelation to every other part of the state. In the first place it will be the largest exhibit ever seen at any fair from one county. In the second place, in general value and grade it will outshine anything ever exhibited as a county contribution to a state fair. There is nothing like getting together in this sort of a superlative way to show the world and its grandchildren about Rock county and its products.

It is a fact that counties are sometimes like people. When they get along in years, and are settled in every corner, when villages begin to get old and slightly bedraggled, when communities change and the children have grown up and scattered, when the spirit is somewhat benumbed and made inactive by prosperity, we are apt to permit fossilization to set in and be looked upon as unprogressive and at a stand still. There are such counties.

We look for better exhibits at fairs and other public expositions from the newer places because there is a tendency to sell, settlers to interest and a new and growing pride in the productivity of the new plowed places. So in the state fair and at the grain and potato shows we have seen many of the younger counties take the prizes. Rock has walked away with the blue banner in the sweepstakes because this county has never allowed age to nullify abiding faith in itself and there is always a future in the things we have been doing can be done better.

We say to the other counties where population in the rural districts is lessening and where enthusiasm is waning, that they can learn from Rock county. There are other counties too in this neighborhood where the same spirit is seen. That is notably so of Walworth, Green and Jefferson. Progress is never lulled to sleep there. Walworth county will show the world that this is so at a fair which will be held soon and where one may well be convinced that old as it is, Walworth has an annual renewal of her youth at the fountain of Hope.

Former Governor Philipp in an address at the opening of the Sauk City bridge over the Wisconsin river, took occasion to talk of the breeders of discontent now rampant in the state. He mentioned no names; perhaps it was unnecessary.

WHAT THE WETS THINK

"The Champion of Fair Play" is a publication edited by the former secretary of the National Retail Liquor Dealers Association and published by the "Veterans of Liberty" in Chicago. The issue of August 15 is devoted largely to Wisconsin politics. It carries a large streamer across the first page asking votes for the veteran "wet" senator La Follette. It endorses McHenry as the wet candidate for governor on the republican ticket and Arthur Bentley as the wet candidate on the democratic ticket at the primary. Mr.

A LUSITANIA SURVIVOR

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C. — It has been said that if a man stands at Forty Second Street and Broadway, he will see more interesting people in a second hour of time than anywhere else in the world. It is possible, however, that The National Press Club at Washington can run a close second to and often exceed that notable New York corner in the number of curious and interesting visitors.

Only yesterday Fred Gauntlett was at the Press Club. Many people know Mr. Gauntlett but not many. He is as interesting as almost any private citizen for many reasons, but for two in particular which are well worth mentioning. Fred Gauntlett is one of the comparatively few men who went down on the Lusitania and came up again to tell the tale. Also he is practically the only man in the world who ever owned a modern navy as his personal property.

Mr. Gauntlett has for years been Washington representative of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company. He is an expert in all matters pertaining to shipbuilding and is especially an expert in naval armament. He is especially pressing the Allies particularly hard, not many months before the United States entered the struggle. Great Britain needed some special advice in the matter of naval armament. Mr. Gauntlett, Mr. Knox, President of the New York Shipbuilding Company, Mr. Ferguson, President of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, and one or two other experts were invited to go to London to discuss naval matters. They called on the Lusitania.

Mr. Gauntlett says he was having lunch about 2 o'clock in the afternoon when there was a dull thud aft. He did not know what the cause was. It was so slight he finished his lunch. In a few minutes he went on deck and noticed some signs of excitement among the crew. Discovering that a torpedo had hit the great liner, he took stock of the situation. Being an old shipping man, he knew instinctively what every aspect of such a situation would be. He realized that the day being warm, every port was open. He attempted to get the steward's force to assist him in saving them, but the hysteria was increasing momentarily and he was unsuccessful.

Long afterwards, in relating the tale he said it was obvious what was about to happen. The Lusitania was a tall ship. She had three tiers of cabin ports, all open for ventilation. The torpedo had struck in such a way that the ship filled on one side and was listing perceptibly. Mr. Gauntlett knew that as soon as the ship had heeled over sufficiently, the water would begin to pour into the portholes. This would accelerate the inflow of water and hasten the flooding of the ship. He made a hasty mental calculation and arrived at the conclusion that if the portholes were not started filling, the ship was lost, because there were on the listing side of the great liner more than six hundred openings, each of which would admit a large stream. As the first tier filled, the ship would list more rapidly; this soon would bring down the second tier and shortly after the third. The result would be a veritable Niagara of water pouring into the ship.

When it was apparent he could rally no assistance to close the portholes, he went on deck. The Lusitania was listing sharply. He took off his coat. The deck was at an uncomfortable angle. He waited. A cry came from alongside. A woman and child had slid into the water. With the aid of a sailor he attempted to rescue them and did succeed in dragging one into a life-boat only in time for it to become foiled and sink. Then came an especially sharp list and the deck tilted at such an angle that he could hold on no longer, and he slid into the sea.

Mr. Gauntlett says that the narrowest escape he ever had in his life came a moment after he was struck out from the side of the sinking ship and thought himself safe when the great liner took her final plunge. The great masts slammed over into the water. Between them was strung the aerial of the wireless, a complicated arrangement of strands of wire. As they came down into the sea, they surrounded him and it was with the greatest difficulty that he freed himself. For half an hour he swam around looking for Mr. Knox and Mr. Ferguson but could not find them. Then he struck out for the shore.

When asked if this was not an exceptional exploit for a man of his years—between 45 and 50—he said:

"Not especially, in view of the fact that I have a cup for winning a ten-mile swimming race."

A curious aftermath of this extraordinary experience was the exposure of a fraud by Mr. Gauntlett on his return to the United States. Everyone remembers how the lists of missing passengers and of survivors were published by the newspapers.

It seems an old, retired sea captain, living in Newfoundland, had conceived the idea of obtaining money on the pretense that he had picked up floating baggage of persons lost on the Lusitania. Using the published list of names of the lost and even of the survivors, he circulated them saying that their baggage had drifted ashore and that for a stated sum he would forward it. It was a scheme likely to attract the next of kin of the drowned passengers, anxious to have the effects of their lost friends or relatives, and also likely to attract survivors who had lost their baggage. Hundreds of dollars were sent the old captain, but there is no record of anyone's having received any baggage.

Mr. Gauntlett uncovered the fraud. Familiar with the sea and having been a victim of the Lusitania disaster, he knew the exact position of the ship when she sank and knew that the ocean currents were such that baggage never would drift ashore within the old captain's range. He had picked up many trunks. Investigating, he confirmed his suspicions and, upon publishing the facts through the Coast Guard, saved money for many persons.

Mr. Gauntlett's ownership of a modern navy is a story equally fascinating. He learned at a dinner party in Washington attended by the Charge d'Affaires of the Greek Legation that Greece wanted to buy some battleships. He knew, as a result of this intimacy with naval facts that the United States Navy was about to retire two big ships. He consulted Secretary of the Navy Daniels and made a deal. He completed the deal with the Greek Charge d'Affaires. Then, by diligent application, he got a bill through Congress authorizing the retirement of the warships and their transfer to Greece.

By a curious technicality of the transaction the two warships first were transferred to Mr. Gauntlett and by him to the King of the Hellenes. It so happened that, because of the red tape involved, a period of two days elapsed in which he, as a private citizen, was the sole owner of these two great warships. They were anchored in Hampton Roads, each burning about 200 tons of coal a day just to keep the boilers warm. The deal was consummated and Greece took the ships. But Mr. Gauntlett often has wondered what would have happened to him, if for some reason, Greece suddenly had backed down, leaving him in possession of the two vessels.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
ALL THAT SHE ASKS
All that she asks is a kindly word.
And a bit of your patience, too.
A bit of the praise which she has heard
When your love was fresh and new.
A found carress when you come at night,
And her eyes will gleam with the old delight.

It is man who fashions a woman's life,
Shapes it happy or sad,
And we learn of the husband from the wife.
Know him for good or bad.
For her face is an open book which gives
The world the tale of the life she lives.

Day by day in the house she stays
Keeping the home for him;
With the work to do and the babies to raise
While the charm of her youth grows dim.
But all that she asks from the man is this:
A kindly word and the evening kiss.

Oh, you snarling and churlish men,
Sudden and quick to rage,
Churning the blood in a lover's den,
Is this a good wife's wage?
Why not give her the joys of life
And make her happy to be your wife?

Isn't the money you make or spend,
Or the great deeds you may do,
On which the charms of her life depend,
Her happiness lies with you.
And all she asks through the years is this:
Your kindly thought and your evening kiss.

MARCEL'S ETIQUETTE
Q. Is it proper to press the knee of the lady who is sitting next to you at dinner?
A. You may take a chance. According to the conventional rules of polite society, anything which does not jar is tolerated. The braid on the trousers of your evening clothes may wear out, but you also make many friends.

Q. Is it proper to kiss a young lady good-night when leaving her?
A. The conventional rule observed by polite society is not to discuss a kiss. It is either too important for discussion or insignificant.

Who's Who Today

SEN. OSCAR W. UNDERWOOD
In a recent letter to Chairman Cummings of the senate judiciary committee, Senator Oscar W. Underwood said that he would oppose the agreement made by the state department to submit to a German-American commission the war claims of American citizens against the German government.

Underwood contends, in his letter, that the means for the settlement of these claims should be provided for by treaty.

The Democratic senator from Alabama is the minority leader in the upper house. He was born at Louisville, Ky., May 22, 1854, and attended the University of Virginia law. He was admitted to the bar in Birmingham in 1884 when Birmingham was merely a village. He has since been a member of the Alabama legislature.

From the chairmanship of the Ninth Alabama district Democratic committee he advanced to the chairmanship of the Alabama state committee. He was elected to the United States senate for the terms 1915 to 1921. He was made senate leader in April, 1920.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Politicians Running Wild
One Wisconsin candidate runs about the state telling of the $350,000,000 slush fund of the British government, distributed among American newspapers.

Another candidate and his mouth piece spread the view that Wisconsin newspapers don't own their own souls, but are controlled by money interests.

If these politicians would cite specific instances instead of broad generalities there would be some way in which they could be hushed.

But they haven't got evidence to back their statements, so the entire newspaper profession must suffer a shock eye to serve the political purposes. Some day this will be changed. The truth will prevail.

You can't always call everyone who happens to have a different opinion than yours a crook and get away with it.—Bulletin of Wisconsin Press Association.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO
August 21, 1882.—The excursion to Milwaukee yesterday under the auspices of the German society of Rockford was a great success. About one hundred from here attended. The only thing to mar the success of the day was the intoxication of a number of the Rockford and Beloit people attending. Only two or three from this city were drunk.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
August 21, 1892.—Thousands attended Ringling Brothers' circus here today. The performance was unusually good.—Frank Willis and his theatrical company will open an engagement here next Tuesday.—Burns and Boland's store will close business tonight. Inventory is to be taken and the stock divided soon.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
August 21, 1902.—A fire causing $1500 damage occurred in new sheds of the Janesville Water company this morning. The fire has been smoldering in the shed for some time in the damp coal and broke out last night. Work on the new library is being slowed because of the lack of materials and workmen and the difficulty in obtaining them.

TEN YEARS AGO
August 21, 1912.—Higher salaries are being paid rural teachers this year, Sup't. O. D. Antisdel states.—The carnival given for the past three days by the First ward youngsters, and tonight a decrease in school attendance will be noted this fall, the census shows. This is in line with decreases noted all over the country.

GOD CARES FOR HIS OWN.
And they shall be mine, said the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels; and I will spare them, as a man spares his own son that serveth him.—Malachi 2:17.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
SPINAL CURVATURE
The chief cause of spinal deformity or curvature is bad posture. A faulty posture may be induced by certain kinds of work which the child does while sitting or standing, for example, writing at a school desk not adjusted to the child's height, carrying heavy books or other weights in one hand or under one arm. A degree of astigmatism greater than most of us have may, in childhood, cause habitual faulty posture, and even one-sided deformities may develop in school.

Spinal deformity is so frequent in growing children and so easily overlooked by parents in its earlier and correctable stage that the only effective prevention demands a rigid examination of every growing child each year by the family physician or any other competent physician and for this examination all clothing must be removed from the hips up, the waistband loosened and pinned over the hips, the shirt removed. Unless this is done of course only a guess can be made about the condition of the spine.

Sometimes parents or perhaps a child's doctor or dressmaker notices that the child has a "high shoulder" or "high hip" which is usually indicative of curvature of the spine. Having in our present method of education below the neck, spinal curvature occurs in about 10 per cent of the school children in many places, although it is usually prevented by proper physical training.

General preventive and remedial treatment for the light cases in which the patient can still overcome the deformity by a conscious effort (functional curvature) before any deformity develops, includes invigilation of the rather frail, weak growing body and intelligent physical training for good posture. These measures are valuable for children in all grades up to high school graduation.

1. Not less than nine hours sleep every night, for children in the lower grades 10 hours would be better and a mid-day or afternoon nap or rest in the recumbent posture for half an hour each day.

2. Not more than an hour of study, either school work or music or other home study, out of school hours.

3. Vocal instruction of voice culture is good because it encourages the child to cultivate good posture and breathe well.

4. Swimming is the best of all exercises, especially breast stroke, or in fact any kind of swimming. In schools where a swimming pool is available the weakly or frail children should be compelled to have this instruction regularly.

5. Cross saddle riding is beneficial; side saddle riding is objectionable. Bicycle riding is excellent exercise for growing girls and boys.

6. Climbing, climbing yourself, be and rope exercises, an excellent gymnastic stunts, as are somersaults, head springs, hand springs, standing and walking on the hands.

Special home exercises to oppose the curvature according to its degree and direction must be prescribed by the physician in each individual case.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Have Lip.
Please tell me where I could go to have a hair lip removed. About how much would it cost? (D. P.)

Answer.—There are many places, but being so called from the fact that the cleft in the upper lip resembles that of a hare, it is called a hare lip. I can give no information about the expense of treatment.

Diabetes.
I have been told I have a mild case of diabetes. I have always had an extremely keen appetite but did not get much exercise. (E. T.)

Answer.—In other words you have induced in overeating which is the very common cause, if not the chief cause, of diabetes.

Hair Cutting Superstition.
Please inform me whether cutting off the hair or shaving the head will stop hair from falling or make it grow in. (Answer.)

Answer.—No. Cutting the hair does not make it grow better or prevent it from falling out.

Swimming Makes Ear Stop.
I enjoy swimming, but every time I go in the water my left ear stops up and is deaf for a week. What can you advise to prevent that? (A. O.)

Answer.—Hardly the hardest common or wax-earring or removed from the ear by a physician, as that is the usual explanation of such an effect.

Q. What is a person called who can see as well or better in the dark?
A. E. E.
The state of being able to see in the dark is known as hemerophopia or day blindness. A person who suffers from this may be known as hemerophop.

Q. Are cedar chests effective as a protection from moths for wool garments?
A. E. F.
A. Chests made of heartwood of red cedar, if in good condition as regards tightness will prevent damage from moths if clothing is beaten, brushed and sunned before being placed in the chest. The odor of red cedar will not destroy adult moths of millers nor eggs, but it will kill the young larvae or worms.

Q. At what age are people most apt to have hay fever?
A. A. C.
A. In 45 cases observed at the same time, the ages of the patients ranged from 2 to 64 years, the general average being 34 years. The common period for the development of the disease is between 20 and 40 years.

Q. I received a registered letter from my friend and it contained a pink note and handkerchief. The postman made me sign for the letter, open it in his presence, and then he took it and its contents to see about the duty. Is that the correct procedure?
A. G.
A. The postoffice department says that sealed registered packages from foreign countries containing dutiable articles are required to be treated by postal employees in this manner. They are not permitted to break the seal of the mail matter. Consequently the seal must be broken by the addressee in their presence, and the article must be submitted to custom officers, who alone have information with respect to whether or not the contents are dutiable.

Q. What are crystal balls made of?
A. B. B.
A. Crystals are generally made of beryl or adamantine.

Q. When was sugar first made from beets?
A. A. C. C.
A. The manufacture of sugar from beet roots was first attempted by Margraff at the Berlin Academy of Sciences, but it was nearly 50 years later that it was successfully made.

Q. I want a registered letter from my friend and it contained a pink note and handkerchief. The postman made me sign for the letter, open it in his presence, and then he took it and its contents to see about the duty. Is that the correct procedure?

Q. What was the message to General D. N. B.
A. N. B.
A. The message which President McKinley sent to Garcia, the Cuban insurgent general, was a query as to the assistance Garcia would furnish to the United States in the war with Spain. Lieutenant Rowan brought back information that Garcia could furnish at least 5,000 well armed men, and that they had a system of transmitting information through the country and could act as guides.

Q. Can salt be used for cooking fat?
A. B. R.
A. Beef suet will make a good substitute for lard or butter for cooking purposes. Put three pounds of suet through a food chopper. Put in one pint of water and the corn oil in double boiler and cook until clear. Strain and put in a cool place.

PARIS BEGINNING

TO "LISTEN IN"
Paris—Radio broadcasting is making strides in Paris, although it has by no means attained the popularity which prevails in the United States. This is due, in part to the fact that all sending stations must have a government license and pay a fee. Receiving sets are sold as low as $4.00, and for $60.00 an instrument can be obtained with which concerts given at the Hague can be heard.

Fireworks Dealers

Ask for Law Repeal
Madison—The state industrial commission has scheduled a hearing at Milwaukee Aug. 25 on a petition of two Milwaukee wholesale dealers in fireworks, who have asked for repeal of the provision of the Wisconsin safety code relating to the storage of fireworks. Effect of the order is to prevent their sale within 200 feet of any buildings.

At this hearing testimony will be taken as to the reasonableness of the order. The commission reports that it has been making an investigation of accidents due to fireworks for five years and has reported that 100 deaths have been reported this year and 12 serious injuries.—In addition to the accidents, 45 fires were caused.

Welcome Addition There
Madison—The new Y. M. C. A. hut on the Wisconsin military reservation proved popular to men of the national guard during the 1922 encampment. Col. Byron Beveridge, inspector general, found. His report shows that during the four weeks men were in training the building was visited by 46,300 men. A total of 30,300 letters were written there and 63,000 attended the camp motion pictures.

A BUSINESS COURSE CAN MAKE YOU INDEPENDENT

To succeed today you must understand and appreciate the fundamentals of successful business. Few people are born with this knowledge. It has to be taught in school, or by hard experience—and thoughtful students always choose the former.

Big business, today, has no time to bother with the untrained. It asks for the trained young man and woman who can go ahead and do things according to correct business procedure.

Some of the best known men in the country today ascribe their success to their business training in stenography or accounting. No matter to what profession you aspire, a business training will make your road easier.

Join the large class of young men and women who have already enrolled for the new term Sept. 5. Come in and talk it over.

Gasoline in Storage and the Motor Car

MUCH has been said of the enormous stocks of gasoline in storage, but very little has been said of this storage as it compares to the number of cars in commission.

Recent statistics compiled by the American Petroleum Institute comparing the number of motor cars in commission with the amount of gasoline in storage, show that there was less gasoline per car in storage June 1 of this year than at any similar period during the last 5 years, with the exception of 1920.

Notwithstanding the fact that the crude oil production is very heavy at this time, the rapid increase in the production of automobiles and other automotive machinery has created a demand which already is greater than the increased supply.

The current output of the several large refineries of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) supplemented by the reserves now on hand, enables the Company to guarantee that the public shall have a steady, dependable supply of Red Crown Gasoline at its command.

Because of its size, its progressive and efficient management, its ample resources, and unrivaled facilities, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is able to provide the needful amounts of petroleum products to supply the vast demands made upon it. Its manufacturing facilities are planned to anticipate these needs years in advance and always are ready for service. Its constantly expanding distribution system is growing as the need for this service grows. Even in the remote corners of the 10 states served by this Company, the dark green tank wagon is a familiar and welcome visitor.

No matter how the production of crude oil has fluctuated, no matter how urgent the demand nor how limited the supply, motorists will recall that not once in the most stringent emergencies of the past has the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) through any fault of its own, failed to supply their essential needs. This Company has every confidence that its future record of service will be equally satisfactory.

Bennett Takes Consolation Tennis Title of Wisconsin

Bennett's Steady Game Surprise to Meet Followers

[Special to the Gazette]—George Bennett, Janesville, under graduate tennis champion of the University of Wisconsin, now holds the state consolation tennis title. Experts began to watch Bennett Friday, when he eliminated Frank O'Connell, which was one of the biggest surprises of the week's play. Bennett showed wonderful endurance and a smashing attack throughout all his matches. On Saturday, Bennett's steady game, defeated Helmer of Milwaukee for the consolation championship. The scores were 6-2, 6-1. Bennett was presented with an engraved silver cigarette case, although he is not a smoker. The title was won by Bennett, who was taken by Art Hubbell, Chicago, just as predicted. He defeated Joe Tholen of Milwaukee, three sets out of four 6-2, 3-7, 7-5, 7-5. Bennett's steady and clock like play was too much for the Cream City boy. The Ladies' singles title was won by Mrs. Helen Stewart, Chicago, who defeated Mrs. A. Schlesinger, Milwaukee, 6-1, 6-1.

HORSESHOE pitching has grown by leaps and bounds that a national association is in the offing. With rules more standardized and a national tournament last year at Des Moines—this year it comes Aug. 28 to Sept. 1—a movement is on foot to organize the game into a great country-wide governing body. EVERY horseshoe club in the United States is being asked to send a delegate to the national meet. At that time the two competing national organizations will probably be merged. These are the National League of Horseshoe and Quoit Pitchers and the National Horseshoe Pitchers' association. A TENTATIVE PLAN already has been drawn up. It calls for a local association with members from the eastern, southern, central and western parts of the country, each having a division manager. Tournaments would be held in each of these divisions in addition to each state, leading up each year with a national meet.

Local Tennis Players Lose to Watertown

Watertown tennis players, evened the season's score with the Janesville "Y" tennis club at Watertown, Saturday, when they defeated the locals by the same score of matches they lost at Janesville two weeks ago, 4-2. Without the services of four of their best players, the Janesville club lost before superior playing, but not without a fight. Ted Miller was the only Janesville man winning his singles match. He defeated Ted Bolls, Watertown, in straight sets 6-2, 6-4. Seated, Watertown again defeated C. K. Patton, Janesville, 6-2, 6-2, using a wide variety of shots. Carl Bolls beat Don Hahn, b. m., 4-2, 6-4. An endurance test was staged by E. Wertheimer, Watertown, and Edward Withberg, Janesville. The set went 11-9, with Wertheimer winning. He took the next set and the match, 6-2. Partial revenge for their defeat in singles was taken by Hutton and Bolls from Seefeld and Carl Bolls in the best match of the afternoon, 10-8, 8-6. The Janesville men's offense playing went Watertown off their feet when points were needed. The Watertown team had 7-3 in the second set; Janesville, 6-2, lost the next game, and took the set by winning the next three games. Edward Allen and Ted Miller, lost to
